I have compiled and installed a version with support for USA. He can be found here, if you use it. The.rar file is only the usav0.9.2 folder. If you do not have the nav chip then you can use this version of the.rar file. Yeah, I'd be interested in trying it out. But I wouldn't necessarily want it if it was going to make me feel like all the running I do isn't worth it. I was actually thinking about doing the Vital Proteins Endurance Test and putting my results into the simulator. I would like to get back on track with the running and hopefully start swimming again. But I think if it's that painful at low intensities, I'm going to have to ease off to a more pain-free exercise. Yes, 570a42141b
